

About Us

At Stern Mechanical, Electrical & Building we are constantly demonstrating our dedication for quality workmanship, eager to develop with a clear vision to expand and progress the core company values within our commitment to serve our clients correctly.

I personally have been in the construction industry for over 19 years. As a team we are highly experienced in all aspects of electrical installations, covering all elements of mechanical & electrical works from small commercial installations & maintenance to new build developments and planned, reactive and maintenance works.

We are a regulated company and recognise safety within the workforce. As an NIC:EIC approved contractor we are assessed regularly to ensure our work can meet the highest standards required within the modern day market.

We have a large client base that we have built solely from recommendations and repeat business, in which we are still investing our time into building and developing relationships with new clientele.

About Britmet

Britmet Lightweight Roofing is a privately owned business that manufactures in the UK and strives to achieve the highest levels of satisfaction and quality in the industry. Our vision is to provide products and support that go above and beyond, adding value to our clients through innovation, sustainability, and service.

Recently, our structural liner, Tacray 90, was used on a strip and replacement of a RAAC Roof at the Royal Blackburn Hospital. Neil Anyon, Architectural Technician for the project said, "The Tacray 90 system was an obvious replacement for the RAAC as it allowed a vapour-sealed, fire-resisting element that made the building watertight before the traditional roof finishes being installed. This would allow internal work to progress much quicker"

BRITMET
LIGHTWEIGHT ROOFING

How can Britmet help with RAAC Roofs?

Our structural liner solution, Tacray 90, replaces the need for timber rafters, creating structural support for all types of roof systems without congestion or fire risk. The lightweight and inherent structural strength offers good spanning performance for a variety of roof coverings including fibre-cement slates, heavy stone tiles standing seam and lightweight roofing systems. Tacray90's ease of installation and assured performance make it ideally suited for all building types where early completion is advantageous. Projects completed to date include hospitals, schools, supermarkets, sports centres, industrial units, and commercial developments. Our project assist service can undertake some, or all, of the project on your behalf, including any technical, planning, or structural requirements.

About Us

SLJ have been trading since 2020, despite being faced by a global pandemic we secured numerous projects and continue to grow, now in our 3rd year of business.

We are committed to building a reputation by providing high quality, reliable and professional services, focussing on our customer requirements.

Whilst we are a newly established company our founders collectively have over 50 years of experience in the mechanical industry.

We have a quality management system in place, compliant with ISO9001 legislation. We plan to achieve the accreditation in the future but are committed to working in line with our own independent QMS in the meantime. In addition to this, our commitment to Health and Safety is at the centre of our growth plans and we have an industry recognised SSIP. We have become a silver Constructionline member.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Working in learning environments

At OSL we are experienced in working with our educational clients, from pre-schools through to sixth form colleges.

We have carried out extensive classroom refurbishments across all these levels, including extensive fit-outs to classrooms, creating sensory areas in special needs schools.

We also carry out redecoration works to classrooms, corridors, public areas and offices as required.

All our teams are all DBS cleared to work with environments where children are present.
